DIRECTORS
Thomas Agars, Esq. | R. M. Robey, Esq.
Thos. Holt, jun., Esq. | W. R. Scott, Esq.
Surveyor, James Hume, Esq.
Secretary, George King, Esq.

The Directors of the Sydney Fire Insurance Company call the attention of the public to the following reduced Scale of their Rates of Premium:—

SECTION A.—Slated buildings, 6s. to 12s. per cent.

SECTION B.—Shingled buildings, 8s. to 18s. per cent.

SECTION C.—Weather-boarded buildings, 15s. to 30s. per cent.

FIFTY PER CENT. of the Premium will be returned on the renewal, for twelve months, on all yearly policies, so THAT THE ACTUAL cost of Insurance will be ONE-HALF only of the above rates.

This Company is established upon the principles of the Saxe Gotha Company, which is one of the leading and the most popular Fire Insurance Company in Germany, and which established, on the occasion of the great fire in Hamburg, the soundness of its principles. It then paid all losses in full without inconvenience to its members.

All parties desirous of insuring in this Company may satisfy themselves by previous inspection of the register book as to the ability of members to make good the amount of their respective contributions.

Application for Insurance to be made to the Secretary, at the office of the Company, No. 397, Pitt-street.

GEORGE KING, Secretary.

☞ N.B.—In case of fire, parties are requested to give notice to Mr. T. J. Bown, Engineer, No. 286, George-street, Superintendent of the Fire Brigade, in whose premises the engine is kept. 589

ANNIVERSARY OF THE GOLD DISCOVERY.
NOVEL AND STARTLING UNDERTAKING

MONSIEUR PRIESTE having after a careful investigation of the laws of Natural Philosophy, and a patient and protracted series of experiments, succeeded in bringing to perfection what may truly be called intends, on the appropriate occasion of the First Anniversary of the Gold Discovery, to submit to the public what he believes will be allowed by all to be the GREATEST DISCOVERY EVER MADE; for by means of an Apparatus which he has invented, and will exhibit, remarkable alike for its simplicity and lightness, any person is enabled to glide over the surface of the water with a facility that to the minds of the most imaginative would before have been deemed impossible.

THE WORLD'S WONDER,

M. P. has engaged a Steamer with a Band of Music, in order that those who may wish to witness his experiments may make an agreeable holiday on the occasion, and also, to prevent the too full exhibition of his invention in its present unpatented state. During the trip, at proper places, Monsieur and Madame Prieste will skate the liquid waves, demonstrating beyond the possibility of cavil, the practicability of walking the sea by means of this unique apparatus.

The steamer will leave the Circular Wharf at 10 A.M. Tickets, 5s. each, to be had of Messrs. Ford, Piddington, the Royal Hotel, George-street, Mr. Aldis, Mr. James Entwistle, and Mr. R. W. Moore, City Wine Vaults. 10917

THE ROAD TO HEALTH!

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—Cure of a Disordered Liver and bad Digestion. Copy of a Letter from Mr. R. W. Kirkus, Chemist, 7, Prescot-street, Liverpool, dated 6th June, 1851.

To Professor Holloway.

Sir—Your Pills and Ointment have stood the highest on our sale list of Proprietary Medicines for some years. A customer, to whom I can refer for any inquiries, desires me to let you know the particulars of her case. She had been troubled for years with a disordered liver and bad digestion. On the last occasion, however, the virulence of the attack was so alarming, and the inflammation set in so severely, that doubts were entertained of her not being able to bear up under it; fortunately she was induced to try your Pills, and she informs me that after the first, and each succeeding dose, she had great relief. She continued to take them, and although she used only three boxes, she is now in the enjoyment of perfect health. I could have sent you many more cases, but the above, from the severity of the attack, and the speedy cure, I think speaks much in favor of your astonishing Pills. (Signed) R. W. KIRKUS.

In accordance with recent advices from Professor Holloway, of 244, Strand, London, the above invaluable Medicine will in future be sold at REDUCED PRICES at the stores of the undersigned, viz., 3s. 6d., 5s. 6d., 14s., 28s., and 42s.

A similar reduction at wholesale.

WRECK OF THE THOMAS KING.

The Thomas King, barque, tons Captain J. H. Walker, sailed from Sydney, bound for Manila, on the 7th April last. On the 17th, Captain Walker considered himself to be about 17 miles to the eastward of Cato's reef, which lays about 180 miles to the northward of Sandy Point, but as the wind was veering from E. to E. S. E., with dark hazy weather, the ship was kept under easy sail; at half past 3 a.m., while the second mate was walking the quarter deck, and the Captain reading in his cabin, the vessel struck; the helm was immediately put down and the yards braced round for the purpose of canting her off, but without effect, and she came with her port-broadside on to the reef, heeling over with the heavy sea breaking on board, which in a few moments carried away the port-quarter boat. Captain Walker finding it impossible to get her off ordered the other boats to be cleared away; two hands then got into the gig, but in lowering the sea swept it away, together with the men in her; the long boat after great difficulty was then hoisted out, and with three hands was dropped astern by a hawser, for fear the vessel should go to pieces. At this time Mr. Orton, the mate, on getting on the weather rail observed that the ship's bottom had parted; the masts were then cut away, and she righted a little. The crew then endeavoured to haul up the long boat, (as the decks were breaking up and the sea making a clean wash fore and aft through the hold); but unfortunately the heavy surf filled her, and her bows coming out, the three men were left adrift, but eventually reached the reef (where they found the two men who had been washed away in the gig), where they had to remain till daylight with the sea breaking over them, the remaining crew on board being huddled together on the quarter-gallery. In the morning, the men on the reef, having found the boat which had been washed away, lying bottom up, they succeeded in righting her, and launching her into deep water on the inside of the reef; but having no oars, the captain and carpenter swam ashore with one apiece from the wreck, and having gained the boat, which had been blown adrift, succeeded in reaching a small sandbank about a mile from the reef; after landing four of the crew they returned to the wreck, and eventually rescued the remainder of the crew, who were all safely landed. On the second day, a case of wine, some brandy, and 4 casks of bread, were obtained, but no water, although several attempts were made to sink for some in the sand. The next day the carpenter and third mate got on board the wreck, by means of the mast lodging on the reef at low water, and saved from the cabin a chronometer, chart, and sextant; and the jolly-boat having been repaired, as well as circumstances would permit, Captain Walker, Dr. Alsop, the second mate, and four hands, started for the main, taking three days' provisions, in hopes of getting some water, and relieving the remainder of the crew; but they have not since been heard of. Previously to leaving, Captain Walker desired the mate to remain ten days, if possible, but, after that period, should no relief come, to do the best he could. The survivors remained fourteen days after the boat left, subsisting on such things as were from time to time, washed ashore; but being without water, they suffered severely, and were rapidly sinking, when providentially, the Lady Blackwood, whaler, hove in sight on the 3rd May, being the 17th day from the time of the wreck, and seeing their signals of distress, sent two whale boats, which found a passage through the reef, and carried them all on board, when, Captain Evans finding the deplorable state they were in, deemed it advisable to bear up for Moreton Bay, which was reached on Thursday last, and as the Eagle steamer was on the point of coming out, they were placed on board, and reached Sydney yesterday morning. At the time of leaving the wreck the poop and two sides had come on shore. An unfortunate accident occurred on board the Lady Blackwood, the day after leaving the wreck, one of the survivors, named James Hayes, went aloft for the purpose of assisting in reefing topsails, when he fell from the futtock shrouds and struck the deck before the windlass, which fractured his skull, and although every assistance was shown him, he died in about an hour. The rescued men all speak in grateful terms of the kindness and attention evinced towards them by Captain Evans while on board the Lady Blackwood, he having supplied them with clothes from his own stock, and contributed to their comfort in every possible way. The mate succeeded in saving some letters from one of the mail bags, which have been forwarded to the Post Office. The following are the names of the crew as far as can be obtained:—

Arrived per Eagle—
Mr. Orton, 1st Mate.
Mr. H. D. Roe, 2nd Mate.
John Okile, Carpenter.
Charles Appleton, Boatswain.
John Achan, Steward.
Pierce Funis, Cook.
Duncan Hindman, Seaman.
James Catling, Ditto.
George Brown, Groom.
James Hayes, Seaman, killed on board Lady Blackwood.
Left in the Boat—
Captain J. H. Walker.
Mr. Dallis, 2nd Mate.
Dr. Alsop, Passenger.
And 3 Seamen, names unknown.

Custom House.—Entered outwards: May 8. Etoile du Matin, schooner, 140 tons, Wilson, for New Caledonia.

The following is the export manifest per Thomas King:—2 hogsheads brandy, 100 deals, part of original cargo, 1 case apparel, A. Scotland; 2 boxes tobacco, B. Thompson; 1 horse, Thacker and Co.; 5 horses, Captain Walker; 220 ozs. 8 dwts. 12 grs. gold, A. Moses and Son; 212 oz. gold, L. and S. Spyer. She was chartered by the Australian Sugar Company for the purpose of bringing a cargo of sugar from Manila.

The cargo of the Eagle, steamer, consists of 31 bales wool, Campbell and Co.; 5 hogsheads 4 quarter casks tallow, 7 bundles sheepskins, Gilchrist and Alexander; 20 bales wool, J. Richards; 220 hides, 2 casks 16 cwt. tallow, T. S. Mort; 31 casks tallow, How, Walker, and Co.; 1 case pine, W. Hardy; 1 parcel shears, Lyall, Scott, and Co.; 1 cask pines, T. Twaddle; and sundries. The Eagle left Moreton Bay on the 6th instant. On passing the Clarence Captain Warner saw the masts and paddle-boxes of the Phoenix above water; she brings no other report.

The Herculean and Emma left Melbourne the same day as the Margaret.

The Brothers, brig, arrived at Moreton Bay on the 24th, and the Souvenir on the 30th ultimo. The Fatima was still loading, 200 casks of tallow were rafted down to her on the 29th ult.

The Lady Blackwood has 200 barrels oil on board, out 11 months; she has met with a succession of heavy gales.

Bishop de Bataillon, who arrived on Saturday from the Islands, has been 13 years at Wallis Island, and was the first Roman Catholic Missionary who attempted to civilise the natives. The John Williams was lying at Tahiti. The Henri spoke the Mohawk 150 miles to the N.E. on the 7th instant.

Colonial Produce.—The following colonial produce has been received coastwise since last publication:—Grain, 968 bushels, from Wollongong; 1000 bushels, from Newcastle.—Wheat, 30 bushels and 10 bags, from Morpeth; 200 bushels, from the Moruya; 100 bushels, from Ulladulla; 3853 bushels, from Newcastle; 180 bags, from Shell Harbour; 6 bags, from Broulee; 218 bushels, from Kiama; 900 bushels, from Shoalhaven: in all, 5301 bushels and 196 bags.—Maize, 4339 bushels, from Newcastle; 1150 bushels, from Morpeth; 80 bushels, from the Moruya; 30 bushels, from Shoalhaven: in all, 5599 bushels.—Barley, 402 bushels, from Morpeth; 20 bushels, from Shell Harbour; 1439 bushels, from Newcastle: in all, 1861 bushels.—Flour, 5 tons and 24 bags, from Morpeth; 10 tons, from Newcastle.—Bran, 208 bags, from Morpeth; 64 bags, from Newcastle.—Hay, 101 trusses, from Morpeth; 48 trusses, from Newcastle; 16 trusses, from Wollongong: in all, 165 trusses.—Potatoes, 161 tons, from Shoalhaven; 20 tons, from Ulladulla; 26 tons, from the Moruya; 34 tons, from Broulee; 2 tons, from Shell Harbour: in all, 243 tons.—Onions, 4 bags, from Wollongong.—Pumpkins, 100, from Morpeth; 120, from Wollongong.—Tobacco, 2 kegs, from Morpeth.—Horses, 18, from Morpeth; 1, from Wollongong.—Calves, 6, from Morpeth; 2, from Wollongong.—Pigs, 40, from Wollongong; 108, from Morpeth.—Lambs, 37, from Morpeth.—Fowls, 1 case, from Shoalhaven.—Wool, 101 bales, from Morpeth; 10 bales, from the Clarence.—Tallow, 170 casks, from Kiama.—Oil, 11 casks, from Morpeth.—Fat, 1 tin, from Shoalhaven.—Hides, 200, from Morpeth; 702, from Newcastle; 7, from Broulee; 1, from Shoalhaven: in all, 870.—Sheepskins, 19 bales, from Morpeth; 2 bales, from Newcastle.—Dogskins, 1 bale, from Morpeth.—Bones, 3 tons, from Newcastle.—Bacon, ½ ton, from the Moruya; 20 sides, from Kiama; 10 sides, from Wollongong.—Butter, 2 kegs, from Pitt Water; 10 kegs, from Shell Harbour; 70 kegs, from Kiama; 173 kegs, from Wollongong; 24 kegs, from Ulladulla; 12 kegs, from Shoalhaven: in all, 291 kegs.—Cheese, 12 cases, from Newcastle; 8 cases, from Wollongong; 40 cases, from Ulladulla; 7 cases, from Morpeth; 4 cwt. and 5 loose, from Shoalhaven: in all, 27 cases, 4 cwt., and 45 loose.—Eggs, 2 boxes, from Pitt Water; 1 case, from Shoalhaven.—Honey, 1 can, from Shoalhaven.—Timber, 10,300 feet, from Brisbane Water.—Shingles, 70,000, from Brisbane Water; 80,000, from Port Stephens; 4 bundles, from Pitt Water.—Bark, 4 tons, from Ulladulla.—Coals, 999 tons, from Newcastle.—Shells, 300 bushels, from Pitt Water; 1060 bushels, from Brisbane Water; 1030 bushels, from the Hawkesbury.—Shipping Gazette.

ROYAL VICTORIA THEATRE.

THIS EVENING, MAY 10,

The performance will commence with the favorite Drama of EUGENE ARAM. Rowland Lester, Mr. Rogers; Richard Houseman, Mr. Arabin; Eugene Aram, Mr. Nesbitt; Walter Lester, Mr. Willis; Peter Dealtry, Mr. F. Howson; Squire Courtland, Mr. Douglass; Liptrap, Mr. Spencer; Madeline Lester, Mrs. Guerin; Ellinor Lester, Miss Hart; Bess Airlie, Mrs. Gibbs; Sal Hammond, Mrs. Smetham. A Cantata, appropriate to the first anniversary of the Gold Discovery in New South Wales, arranged by Mr. Gibbs, will be sung by Mesdames Sara Flower, Carandini, Messrs. F. and J. Howson, and Full Chorus. To conclude with the laughable Farce, of THE HOUSE DOG. Mr. Clinkscales, Mr. Rogers; Captain Harry Hazard, Mr. Willis; Dust, Mr. F. Howson; Codicil, Mr. Belfield; Doo, Mr. M'Gowan; Dip, Mr. Howard; Melpomene, Mrs. Gibbs; Cecelia, Miss Hart; Betty Buncle, Mrs. Smetham.

Furious Riding.—Joseph Hives and Cornelius Wall were on Saturday brought before the Bench, on information, for a breach of the Police Act, by furiously riding in the Domain, thereby endangering the safety of a child, name unknown. They both pleaded guilty to galloping their horses in the Domain, but said that they thought they might do so there without committing any offence. They were each sentenced to pay the minimum penalty of 40s., with costs 2s. 6d., or be imprisoned for fourteen days. Each paid his own fine and departed.

"Sworn to no Master, of no Sect am I."

THE AUCKLAND ISLANDS.

When intelligence of the formation of the Southern Whale Fishery Company first reached Sydney, we expressed our opinion that the projectors of the Company had committed two fatal errors; first in attempting to mix up colonization with their commercial affairs; and secondly, in fixing their main establishment at the Auckland Islands. We regret to find that our predictions have even at this early period come true, and the affairs of the Company have become involved to a very serious extent.

Had the Company fixed their depôt on the north shore of Port Jackson, or at Newcastle, or at Port Stephens, they need not have expended above £2000 in the erection of a store and dwellings for their labourers, and their chief officer could have been called a superintendent, and been remunerated by a salary of £400 or £500 a year; but when they undertook to colonise, they considered it necessary to have a "Chief Commissioner," and as he was to have charge of the settlement, the Queen was advised to make the Commissioner a Lieutenant-Governor, (who of course required a staff,) and thus it came to pass that the affairs of a Company owning seven ships, which would be managed by any Sydney merchant with the aid of an extra clerk, were placed under the superintendence of his Excellency Lieutenant-Governor Enderby.

The Auckland Islands are so far south that the weather is exceedingly tempestuous, and the winter very bitter. This rendered necessary houses of a more expensive kind than are usual in Australia, and such of our readers as know what "founding a settlement" means, will not be surprised to hear that some £30,000 has been expended in buildings and improvements at Port Ross, from which, as the settlement is to be deserted, the Company will receive but very little benefit.

The London shareholders of the Company, not feeling satisfied with the progress of affairs, the Company at their last annual meeting resolved to send out a deputation to enquire into the state of affairs, and about four months since, Mr. Dundas, one of the Directors, and Mr. Preston, the Secretary of the Company, arrived at Port Ross for the purpose. They were of course received with all due respect, and proceeded to make their enquiries, and on the ground of general mismanagement determined to remove Mr. Enderby from office as Chief Commissioner, and assume the management of the Company's affairs themselves. Mr. Enderby, at first declined to recognise their authority to remove him, but ultimately resigned his appointment in the Company's service.

And now comes the part of the transaction which gives the affair more general importance than if it only concerned the affairs of a trading company. Mr. Enderby as Lieutenant-Governor, by the Queen's commission, declared his intention of continuing to exercise his authority; but as every person on the island was in the service of the company, no one would obey him. "Government House" belonged to the Company, and as His Excellency refused to vacate it, the "Special Commissioners" removed his furniture to a small room, and desired him to leave the settlement. His Excellency declined to leave the "colony" of which the Queen had made him Lieutenant-Governor, and revoked the appointments of Messrs. Munce and Mackworth as magistrates, and dismissed the constables. The magistrates continued to act, notwithstanding the revocation of their appointments, and the constables were reappointed. The Special Commissioners were about to leave Port Ross, and had given Mr. Enderby notice that if he did not leave the island in the schooner in which they were about to depart, they would put him on board by force and take him to Wellington, where they would provide him a passage to England. Whether they would venture on such a step remains to be seen.

We make no comment on these extraordinary transactions; for the present we merely place them on record as a singular episode in the history of commerce and colonization.

Messrs. Dundas and Preston, we believe, intended to proceed to Otago, to see whether it would afford a good place to which to remove the Company's station, and in the event of their not finding a suitable place there they will probably come on to Sydney. After their experience of colonization in high latitudes, we do not think the Company will be disposed to form settlements south of Otago, but will be content with the less dignified but more profitable establishment of a mere depôt, where a ship can be conveniently fitted out and despatched on her voyage.

A SAILOR'S TRIP FROM MELBOURNE TO MOUNT ALEXANDER.

This long looked for, half dreaded event was now to come off, the ride of eighty miles "outside of a horse" was to be undertaken, and as my two friends and fellow-travellers came up to the gate fully equipped for the road, I felt a slight misgiving as to the result of this my first serious essay as a horseman. Sundry visions floated before my eyes of the wild ungovernable steed running away with me, or still more terrible, giving me a specimen of buckjumping. This I have been told is purely a colonial accomplishment. Whether that be the case or not, mattered little to me then. I had often seen it exhibited, and though wonderfully in appearance like the motion of a ship in a head sea, to which I had been tolerably well seasoned, I felt would in reality be quite a different affair and that my sea legs "would advantage me nothing" in that sort of motion, but over the bows of the horse I should be certain to go. I was no judge of horse-flesh, or I need not have given myself the slightest concern; for the one-eyed charger which was to carry me was quite incapable of any such feat of agility.

Well, having got fairly under way, we scampered out of town at a tolerable rate. The weather was oppressively hot, one of those clear hot wind days, when the rays of the sun seem to reach you through a burning glass, and every puff of air, instead of cooling and refreshing, comes as if it were a hot blast from a furnace, raising with a whirlwind those singular pyramids of dust, which however interesting and picturesque as they may appear, as they unquestionably do in the distance, are anything but pleasant when "whirled" over you, filling your eyes, nose, mouth, ears, and shirt collar, with dust. Under these circumstances, of course we had to stop at the first available place to "clear the cobwebs," out of our throats. This was at the Inn at Flemington, two miles out of Melbourne, where while we were discussing our lemonade, some of the numerous loungers outside the door, managed to steal my whip, so that my horse, who had already begun to require it, was likely to have it all his own way.

I was told that organised bands of vagabonds are always lurking about these inns, watching mostly for opportunities to rob the returning gold digger, but filling up any spare time they may have on their hands by such petty thefts as these.

A few miles further on the road, we fell in with a friend returning from the diggings, with several pounds weight of gold strapped on the pummel of his saddle, in his blanket. He had been keeping company with the escort through the most dangerous part of the road, and was now pushing on for town, having left them a few miles behind. Knowing the qualities of my steed better than I did, he kindly offered me one of his spurs, telling me very significantly that I should soon want it, and having in my short experience arrived at the same conclusion, I gladly accepted it.

Another heave-to, to "whet our whistles" at an inn a few miles further on our road kept by a Vandemonian, where the entertainment for travellers was of rather a rude description; and the landlord, landlady, and the whole houseful of customers seemed brutish in the extreme, and quite at variance with my preconceived notions of the quiet of a country inn; but I was only a sailor, and had a great deal to learn. However, great allowance must be made for golden times, as each of these publicans must be making a rapid fortune, and as a general rule my experience of the world has taught me, that in proportion as the money comes in, among uneducated men at least, so common civility goes out.

Stopped to dinner at the Deep Creek Inn, about a dozen miles out of town. This is another of those houses, which evidently had never been the resort of any but the genus "bullock driver" prior to the discovery of gold, and ought never to have risen above that level. Here we dined with three gentlemen, unmistakeable gentlemen by their conversation, though their long beards, blue over-all shirts, and muddy trousers, if dress were a standard of gentility, would rather have led to the supposition that they belonged to the class for whom the hospitalities of the Deep Creek Inn were evidently originally intended.

They were returning from the diggings, where they had done well, but complained much of the scarcity of water for washing out the gold, and even for drinking purposes, the latter causing much illness. Two out of the three were suffering much from inflammation of the eyes, caused as they supposed by the flies, which they told us were very numerous and excessively troublesome, and judging from appearances I should say extremely painful also.

During our meal two "gentlemen" of another kidney arrived, handcuffed together, and under the charge of two mounted policemen, who having left their horses, immediately entered the room where we were, took the irons off their prisoners and "sans ceremony" all four sat down together at the same board with ourselves; one of these men it appeared was committed to take his trial for a felony, the other, in default of bail to keep the peace, was to serve six months in gaol for an assault.

Both were travelling to Melbourne on foot in that oppressively hot day, and each endeavoured to obtain permission from the sergeant in charge to remain where they were for the night: the assaulted tried his most pathetic powers of persuasion; the felon tried what in colonial parlance is expressively termed "bounce," by saying that he had come fifteen miles already that morning, and that he neither could nor would go on,—but the ruler of their movements was inexorable, and with the invariable answer "my orders are for Melbourne to-night" they were at last marched off, growling as far as we could hear, that they would go no farther.

At eight o'clock, being just after dusk, we arrived at the Bush Inn, thirty-five miles from Melbourne. On enquiring for entertainment we found that the horses, our first care, could not by any possibility be stabled, so it being quite dark we led the animals over a rugged road to another hostelrie, a quarter of a mile off, where we found plenty of room in the stables, but nothing for them to eat, so tired enough we retraced our steps to the Bush Inn, placed the animals in the stockyard, and by dint of the most obsequious behaviour to the ostler, procured a few armsfull of hay, which having taken to the horses ourselves, and waited to see them eat, we sought the interior of the inn, there to administer some comforts to our inner man. After the same course of proceeding with the waiter, as with the ostler obtained for our horses, we at length procured some supper for ourselves. I was inclined to have used a different tone, but was significantly reminded by my friends that "in these gold digging times bounce won't do."

The house was full of people of all classes, and I was informed, I have no doubt with truth, that the landlord during this stir is in the weekly receipt of from eight hundred to eleven hundred pounds. This for an obscure country inn is enormous, and I have no doubt that at least two-thirds is profit. With difficulty we obtained "beds for three" in a small closet of a place; every cranny of the house being filled with beds, and when I awoke in the morning and looked out on the verandah, I could see several persons sleeping on, and others just risen from beds, evidently made up there from the insufficiency of room within the hotel. We breakfasted at six o'clock, saddled our horses and started. The hot wind of yesterday had been succeeded by a chilly morning, and dark clouds travelling rapidly from the westward with occasional spittings of rain, gave omen of a cooler ride than that of yesterday. A short distance from the Bush Inn we entered the Black Forest, and soon the rain, which before was confined to a few drops occasionally, came down in real earnest, thick, fast, and constant. We were soon wet through, and our steeds, none of the best originally, showed symptoms of preferring a walk to any other pace. The excessive heat of the previous day, added to a rough night in a stock yard, with but little to eat, had not improved their powers of progression. We however jogged on at a slow pace, the continuous strings of wayfarers up and down which we had never ceased to pass since leaving Melbourne, still kept up their scarcely broken lines, but by far the greater proportion were like ourselves, outward bound. The rain seemed to have no effect in delaying or retarding their progression. On horseback, in carts, on foot, alongside of drays that were carrying their luggage (swag they called it) or alongside of no drays but carrying the swag themselves, they plodded along, seemingly unconscious of the drenching they were getting, or probably thinking that as the great bane of the diggers was want of water, the good in perspective would more than counterbalance any present inconvenience. I confess this was in my thoughts, and when the next day those we met told us that the rain had not extended to the Mount, I felt disappointed. Safely through the Black Forest, and slowly on the road we wended our way. The rain had cleared off, and a cutting wind set in, but no "cutting" seemed to affect our steeds, which we were frequently obliged to dismount and take in tow, and when we arrived at the township of Kyneton, twenty miles from the diggings, they were evidently too much knocked up to perform the remainder of the journey that day at least, so they were turned into a paddock, and we were compelled most reluctantly again to seek the shelter of an inn on the road to the diggings. Crowded like the one of last night, in bar and parlour, in kitchen and tap-room, in every imaginable part of the lower portion of the house, with men in every garb and of various physiognomies, in which the decidedly scampish greatly predominated, promised anything but a pleasant night. However we early engaged our three beds together in the same room, for which we soon had cause to congratulate ourselves.

We retired early, but sounds of fighting, cries of robbery, &c., kept us awake nearly all night. The first thing we heard in the morning was, that one man had been "stuck up," against the stable door, and a robbery attempted in the middle of the night, and that only by his shouting murder lustily had escaped. Another had been actually robbed of £40, for which offence one man was in charge of the chief constable of the village and his watch-house-keeper, (the only available "force" in the place) in one of the rooms in the hotel. While seated at breakfast word was brought us that the constable and his assistant had just brought the prisoner out to convey him to the watch-house, when he had been rescued by the rest of the gang, headed by a negro, a well known character, of gigantic proportions, going by the name of Black Douglas. This open act of defiance to the law occurred in broad daylight, and within three miles of a mounted police station, Carlsruhe.

We were glad to get away from such society, and as soon as we had caught our horses and saddled them, were on the road again.

Still the same unvarying swarm of people; an apparently never-ending stream, and still continuing till we arrived at the diggings, which we did at two o'clock, and following along the bank of Forest Creek, in a short time we came to an anchor at the wooden edifice which was to be our shelter for a time. And here I would return my grateful acknowledgments for the extreme kindness and hospitality displayed to me by the owners of that store, not only during my residence there, but also in Melbourne. This store was formed of pine boards stood on end, and meeting at the top, appearing like the roof a house that had sunk to the eaves. It was crammed closely with cheese, salt fish, flour, tobacco, tea, sugar, &c., and the various other necessaries and creature comforts so recklessly indulged in by the successful gold digger. Amidst this mass (or mess) of the good things of this life, when in their proper place, we were to eat, drink, and sleep; not very promising, had we been fastidious; but when night came on, being rather tired with riding, I "rove" myself in among the delicacies above enumerated, and defiant of the odours therefrom arising, was soon in a sound sleep.

> Tired nature's sweet restorer, balmy sleep!

So saith the poet. Well! a man never knows till he tries, or till he sees others try, the strange situations in which sleep can be obtained; and he who was always accustomed to a bed of down, enclosed in damask curtains, with all the comforts which art hath produced to woo the fair enslaver, hath so often found them useless, and laid tossing and tumbling all night, has but small conception of how sweetly sleeps, in apparently the most inconvenient places, the man who requires sleep as a restorer after severe toil. "The ship boy on the high and giddy mast," as Shakspeare hath it, will sleep, and sleep soundly too. Aye! he sleeps quite as soundly there now, as in the days of the bard of Avon, though the masts are higher, and quite as giddy, possibly giddier than they were then.

In those modern days, I notice, he generally taketh care to lash himself with a gasket, or something of the sort, first; and then, feeling secure, for nothing defeats sleep so much as a want of confidence, he resigns himself to the arms of Morpheus; or, perhaps, more truly Morpheus lays violent hands on him, and he is off into the regions of forgetfulness, or quite as correctly, the regions of memory, recalling in the dream-land to which he has suddenly arrived, scenes long since enacted, and places far away. Suddenly a pitch, heavier than the vessel has made before, nearly throws him off the top-sail yard, where he has been "keeping his look-out," and the trusty gasket bringing up suddenly, recals him back to unpleasant realities. One of the boys in the other watch, on his way up to furl the royal, for the wind is increasing and the head sea getting up that occasioned the pitch that nearly knocked him off, as he swings himself up into the crosstrees, discovers our friend, and with a "halloo don't you know it's past eight bells? why your watch has been below for an hour" passes on to quiet the canvas that is fluttering over his head, while the newly awakened one goes down as quickly as he can consistent with cautiousness, for he must take care that the eagle eye of the officer of the watch on deck does not descry him, and at once divine the cause of his appearance. Suppose him escaped from that danger, in three minutes more he is as sound asleep in his hammock as he was aloft, and never awakes till eight bells again, let the ship jump as she may, unless the increasing breeze renders a reef necessary before that time, and "all hands" are called for the purpose.

But I have, unconsciously, in the memory of old scenes, wandered from my subject, so I must just try back again.

Refreshed by my sound sleep, I awoke early next morning and commenced looking about me, and a strange scene presented itself.

The first thing that struck me was the number of women and children about. I certainly never expected to see these domestic comforts in such profusion; and when I was more initiated into the mode of life pursued, for be it known I had never been among the dwellers in tents before, I was still more astonished. Wretched tents of canvas or calico, adapted neither to keep out the sun nor rain, with here and there a bark shed, in which no well bred dog would have deigned to reside, were the homes of numbers of families. When we consider that a large population was living in this manner, exposed to sudden changes of temperature, as well as an almost constant dampness at night, with scorching heat by day, and, added to this, that they were drinking water, in many instances, of the consistence of gruel, it can scarcely be wondered at that sickness was prevalent. Gold seemed to be abundant, if I might judge from what was brought to the store during the day, and sold at 56s. per ounce, but there seemed no uniformity in the earnings of the diggers, so far as I could learn, some getting pounds weight in a single day, and others being weeks without a speck. The majority however seemed satisfied, and those who had done nothing, spoke of "pitching upon it" some day as a matter of certainty. There certainly was more money among them than I have ever seen among men of their class, and they spent it with that degree of recklessness which generally attaches to the easy acquirement of money by working men. They thought nothing of giving a shilling for a glass of rum or a pint of cider, at any of the numerous grog shops, which, tempted by the enormous profits of the trade were, in spite of the risk of seizure, to be found in all directions. Other articles of luxury, too, which even in towns must have been beyond the reach of most, except at exceedingly rare times, were purchased here at enormous prices and in large quantities. Thus tins of salmon and sardines, went at prices I should be afraid to mention, to form a meal for working men after a hard day's digging. As far as I could learn during my short stay, there were no men employed on weekly wages as in the diggings of New South Wales, but all were on a "lay" or share of the gold raised. Some working parties were fitted out from the stores, on the following terms, which appeared to me extremely liberal:—Four working men were provided with all necessary tools and provisions, had the use of a horse and cart to convey the washing stuff to the cradle, and had their licenses paid for them. The gold raised was divided into six portions, of which each of the diggers had one, and the remainder or one-third of the whole was the property of the proprietor, if he might be so called, of the party. Yet this arrangement was said to pay every one very well. The expense of getting the stuff to the water was a great drawback to many of small means, for it could not be done without a horse and cart, and many rather than have the trouble of looking after a horse, which, in spite of all precautions was frequently stolen, or being at the expense of feeding it on corn at twenty shillings a bushel, chose rather to pay fifteen shillings a load for having it carted, (I speak now only of the part within my own observation,) something less than a mile, and that over so rough a track, that not much could be taken at a time.

Many parties in consequence of the scarcity of water, or the great distance to which they would have to convey the stuff to it, were not washing at all, contenting themselves with "nuggeting," as it was called, a word requiring no explanation now; and were accumulating heaps of earth to be washed when the rain came, and from this I infer that after the first continued heavy rain so as to fill the creeks, the yield of gold will be something more astonishing than any we have yet heard of; but, from the circumstance here narrated, it will not be a true criterion of the actual produce of the gold fields within a certain time. That there has been as much gold left in the earth thrown aside for the present, as has been actually extracted and sent to Melbourne during the whole time the diggings have been in operation, wonderful as it may seem, is frequently asserted by those conversant with the subject. My own experience being very short, I decline giving an opinion, but I know, in several heaps that I saw, there would be fortunes if they were on the banks of the Turon or Major's Creek; and one strong reason I have, is that I saw many old men on Mount Alexander who were making a handsome thing by going about among the deserted holes and heaps, "fossicking," as it is called there, and solely with a tin dish taking the stuff to the water and washing it. All who have any idea of gold digging must allow that the earth must be very rich to pay at that work.

The mines in New South Wales have never had the same chance of turning out large amounts as those in Victoria have, or possibly some of them might have exhibited yields quite as astonishing.

In the latter, the immense and sudden influx of population soon rendered it necessary that the main creek should be left, for there was not room there for more than comparatively few. This naturally led to "prospecting" among the lands adjacent, and the result has been that the larger portion of all the immense wealth obtained has been from the dry diggings. Now on the grounds adjacent to Bell's and Major's Creeks, we know that there are large portions of soil highly auriferous, and so close to the surface, that I have seen specks of gold shaken off the roots of the grass just plucked up. Perhaps, from those two places alone, as much gold has been raised for the number of men and time employed, as from any similar space in the whole colony of Victoria, and yet, with very few exceptions, the main creeks have not been left. Had the same causes been in operation, - had a proportionately large number of persons been thrown suddenly "prospecting," there, probably the results would have been as astonishing. But, to return to Mount Alexander, the want of protection was loudly exclaimed against; organized bands of ruffians were known to be walking about with impunity, openly avowing their occupation; so hardened had they become from feeling their power and the almost certainty of their getting off scatheless from any robbery or violence they might choose to attempt. An instance was publicly spoken of as having occurred within a day or two of my arrival, where a party of three, who were known to be doing well, had their tent attacked in the night by one of these gangs, and on one of them running to the Commissioner and applying for assistance, being answered with "I have no more policemen here than I require to protect the tent and the gold in it; if persons break into your tent to rob you, you must shoot them, for I cannot protect you." The consequence of this state of things was, that all who could were arming themselves. One poor fellow got shot during my short stay, by his own mate, who waking up suddenly in the night, and finding, as he thought, a strange man with his hand on his bed, fired and wounded him severely. It appeared the unfortunate fellow had been out of the tent for a little while, unknown to his companion, and returning in the dark was feeling for his own bed, when the unfortunate accident occurred.

As it was generally known that the diggers kept their gold under their pillows while asleep, it was not an unusual occurrence for a tent to be ripped open opposite the pillow, which was generally close to the canvas of the tent, and the dust stolen from under, and the thieves off before the unfortunate victim was quite awake to the full knowledge of his misfortune, and by that time the attempt to follow would be perfectly hopeless.

I remained but a short time at the Mount; an attack of the prevalent disorder making me desirous of quitting sooner than I otherwise should have done, being fearful of remaining, as an increase of the illness might have rendered my departure impossible. I chose a different mode of progression from that I adopted in coming up. A return dray from the stores being about to leave for Melbourne, I decided on travelling with it, and six other persons from different parts of the diggings, amongst the rest an invalid. Having placed their beds, &c., in the dray, we mounted on it, and rode as comfortably as in a spring vehicle. Just after leaving the diggings we came to a sideling pinch, which I thought rather dangerous, but presuming that the landsmen knew better than me, and especially the driver, who kept his seat, I did not like to betray my fears (which I thought might only proceed from my ignorance of the subject,) by being the first to jump off. I was sitting on the weather side, close to the driver, who had just remarked "he was never afraid of that dray capsizing because it was so broad," and "a man had no call to be afeard so long as he could depend on his osses," (of which by the way he had three out on end) and was guiding them solely by his voice. At that instant we were just passing a large tree, when I felt a sudden increase of the "list" and jumped clean over the stern of the dray, passing miraculously while it was turning between the upper part of it and the aforesaid tree, against which when I recovered myself, I saw the machine resting, and which had most providentially prevented it from rolling over and over down the hill, and in all probability killing some one.

As it was, two of the party were seriously hurt. The poor man who came an invalid into the dray, received some internal injury, and had to be laid at full length on beds in the dray all the remainder of the journey, and another received a severe contusion of the shoulder and chest, being jammed between the dray and tree. These were the most severe casualties, though none of us escaped scatheless. I have never heard the word "sideling" since without a shudder. By the assistance of some passers by, we got the horses out and the machine righted. Fortunately, the horses were not hurt, so we got along again; but it was a long time before I could be tempted to ride, and never on a "sideling." We camped out that night near a stream of water, which, as it was quite dark when we arrived in the locality of it, there was some difficulty in finding. However, having succeeded, we lighted a fire and got a pot of tea boiled, and I don't think I ever enjoyed one more, for the evening was very cold. We then propped the shafts of the dray up, and by means of bushes round the back and sides of the wheels, and a tarpaulin over the shafts, made a tolerable shelter; inside of which we slept, and as soon after daybreak as possible, were on the road again. This day we got over about thirty miles of ground, and camped at night as before. The same constant string of people, horses, drays, &c., as I before noticed on my roadup, still continued now. This day's journey, I had the curiosity to count the number of bullocks, in drays going towards the diggings, that passed us, and they reached the astonishing number of two hundred and thirty-four. This may give a faint idea of the traffic on the road. The horse drays were much more numerous, and the footmen were an almost unbroken line. It was more like going to a fair than anything else I had ever seen. I do not mean in the dress of the travellers or the load they carried, there was nothing to remind one of English fair goers in that, for each had a bundle on his back of a blanket or oppossum rug for camping in at night, and a tin pot and pannikin hanging behind him, fastened to his person by the belt round his waist, passing through the handles.

By carrying a little tea and sugar, which they all did, and damper, or some substitute for it, they had a pic-nic every day by lighting a fire when hungry or tired, and boiling the ever-lasting tea, and plodding on again; at night, repeating the operation of boiling the tea, and then rolling up in the blanket or oppossum rug by the fire, with no canopy but the sky, and sleeping no doubt soundly.

Where is the country in the world were this could be done as it is constantly done by bush travellers now, and has been constantly done long before gold was discovered, without inconvenience or evil consequence, as in our own beautiful Australia?

Another day brought us to Melbourne, and this brings my trip to a close.

Before finishing, I would add that the spirit of ill feeling towards Sydney, with which the Victorians are charged and which their press in very bad taste seems prone to foster, I saw but few, I did see a few instances of. I am not sufficiently conversant with the grounds of complaint as to know whether the charges brought against the older colony by the press are just or not, but I am sufficiently conversant with the colony to know that many in Port Phillip rail against Sydney unjustly and ungenerously, and without any more real reason or understanding the real grievance better than the Californians do in denouncing Sydney, while under that general name they comprehend Van Diemen's Land and all these colonies, not excepting immaculate South Australia and Victoria.

For the ignorance and spleen of the Americans there is some excuse. They are a people who, whatever they may profess, never will "fraternize" with Englishmen; they are, though speaking the same language, of a different "birth, patronage, and education," and widely different manners; but the Victorians are of the same blood as ourselves, and ought not to seek to form a breach in what ought to be one family, united as we are in one great, glorious, cause of liberty!

"The Californians are charging us, through their worthy correspondent," with inhospitality to their countrymen. I believe it to be a gross falsehood. Let the numerous Americans now in this country say if the general behaviour to them is such as has been described, or even what they might have expected as a retaliation for the wrongs of Sydney men in California, more especially expected from the representation of the general character of our population which obtains such universal credence in that country. Let them say if they cannot go through the whole length and breadth of the land without receiving the shadow of an insult. When the Alta California publishes authentic reports of ill-treatment written by respectable Americans I will believe it, but not on the faith of a renegade Britisher."

The noble, Hinnigan brings forward his own treatment as an instance of what might be expected. He well knows, for he openly bragged of it in San Francisco, his connection with certain scenes—does he not know that Jack Ketch himself, useful member of society as the law constitutes him, is not always sure of a pleasing reception among any class where recognised, even in his private character, and why should he expect it? The crowd who would respectfully salute the judge who condemns the criminal, would hiss the executioner who carried out the sentence; and many in this country, and I confess I am one of the number myself, who on the ground that desperate cases require desperate remedies, having seen some of the operations of the Vigilance Committee, would not condemn in the wholesale manner it is the fashion here to condemn all the acts of that body, yet would join in denouncing the wretch who in open day would gloatingly boast of having had a hand on the rope that hung a fellow being, whether that man be sentenced by a legal tribunal or an illegal one.

The other instance adduced by this worthy, viz., the treatment of Capt. Davis, of the brig Zone, I remember hearing of at the time, and the report then was, that his passengers had roughly handled him on the first night of his landing here, for ill-using them at sea—Probably they were not all Sydney men.

But I have unconsciously gradually got out of the channel in which I started, so I shall bring up "all standing."

LAW INTELLIGENCE.

SUPREME COURT.—Saturday.

Sittings in Banco.

Before the full Court.

DOE DEM. DEVINE v. WILSON AND OTHERS.

The arguments in this case were now concluded.

The action was in ejectment to recover 210 acres of land at Newtown, and having been tried at the last nisi prius sittings before the Chief Justice and a jury of twelve special jurors, a verdict was found for the defendants. Coupled with this finding, however, there was an expression of opinion by the jury upon several points left to them by Sir Alfred Stephen for decision. The principal of these were, that the possession by Nicholas Devine (ancestor of the present claimant) was under certain grants of 1794 and 1799, but that he had also possession independently of these grants. The Court was now moved for a new trial upon several grounds, but it was arranged that, as a matter of convenience and to save time, an argument should be first taken upon the sufficiency of old Devine's title as against the actual possession by the defendants, because, as the plaintiff must recover by the strength of his own title, and not from any defect in the title of his antagonists, there would be an end to the case if it should turn out that the title of the person through whom he claimed was defective.

A report of the trial itself will be found in the Herald of the 7th April. The whole of the counsel and attorneys engaged on that occasion were apparently retained in connection with the present motion, but the question of title was argued between the Attorney-General and Mr. Purefoy on the one side, and the Solicitor-General on the other.

The argument by plaintiff's counsel was to the effect that, irrespective of the grants, there was evidence of a possession by Devine for more than twenty years of a place known as Burren Farm, and the place thus occupied was clearly identified with the land actually claimed, first by the survey, and laying down of the boundary lines about eight years prior to Devine's death; and, secondly, by the further identification of these boundaries at the time of the trial, through the intervention of a witness named Davis, who had been present at the survey. This estate being one with a specific name and with defined boundaries, the mere grant by that name was rendered sufficiently certain, as in the case of a manor: for grants from the Crown must be construed liberally and as beneficial to the subject as possible, the honour of the Crown requiring such a construction. The Act of Council, 6 Wm. IV., would also, when liberally construed, apply to these grants. The declared object of this Act was to render grants issued, as they had previously been, in the name of the Governor, as effectual as if they had been issued in the name and under the seal of the Sovereign. In its general scope and effect, therefore, it was a remedial statute; and although it had not provided for the case of informalities of description in so many words, its intention was clearly to cover and to cure all defects of this nature. But, taking into consideration the circumstances of the colony and its inhabitants at the time these grants were issued, the descriptions in them were sufficient. The colonists brought with them only so much of the British law as was applicable to the circumstances of the country wherein they had taken up their residence, and there was not at that time any such extent of artificial refinement or topographical distinction, as to render either necessary or practicable the minuteness of description called for in similar instruments for the conveyance of land in older and more settled communities. A great number of authorities were quoted and relied upon. To maintain that prior possession would sustain ejectment, the Attorney-General quoted Bull, Nisi Prius, 103 A.; Doe on dem. Hughes v. Dyball, Moo. and Malk. 346; Doe on dem. Hardinge v. Cook, 7 Bing. 346; Doe on dem. Smith and Pager v. Webber, 1 Ad. and Ell. 119; Doe on dem. of Hall v. Penfold, 8 Car. and P., 536; 2 Saund. by Wms. 111; also 2, Salk. 421; Ld. Raym., 741; D. Cowp. 595. In support of the validity of the Crown Grants the learned gentleman quoted—2 Shep. Touch. 246; Stockdale's Case, 6 Co. Rep.; Molyn's Case, 3 Co. Rep.; Priddle and Napper's Case, 6 Co. Rep.; Whistler's Case, 5 Co. Rep.; 17, Viner Abr. Til. Grants of the King (F. C); Rae, Abr. Tit. Prerogative, Plowd. Com. 397. By Mr. Purefoy the following additional authorities were cited, viz., Hughes v. Dyball, 3 Car. and P. 610. Draper's Co. v. Wilson, Saunder's Rep. 477, Adams on Ejectment, 487, 2 Adl. and E. 119, and 2 Dwarris on Statutes, 724 and 726.

After the argument by plaintiff's counsel had terminated, their Honors decided that the statute of 1836 (6 Wm. IV.) could not, without a manifest straining and extension of its legitimate operation be made to remedy defects in description. It was passed for the simple purpose of giving to grants issued by the Governors in their own names, the same force and effect as if issued by and in the name of the Sovereign. It could not be held that, because the Legislature had remedied one defect, they must necessarily, and without mentioning it, be held to have remedied another. And a defect in the definition of the land granted, would not be a defect of form only, but of substance. A defect which would render the grant void, even if it were actually the grant of the Sovereign. It was as necessary in the colony as in England, under any circumstances, that land granted or conveyed should be so described as that it might be found and taken possession of; and an instrument void for uncertainty in that country, would be similarly void here. One of their Honors (Mr. Justice Dickinson) was, at this stage of the case, of opinion that the plaintiff must fail on the question of title upon all the points. Another member of the court (the Chief Justice) stated, that the inclination of his opinion was the same way. But the latter, together with the third Judge, desired to hear further argument as to whether the proved occupation of part of the land for 20 years, when taken in connexion with the after survey, &c., would amount to a possession of the whole. Whether this was a title, by possession, &c., good and sufficient in itself, irrespective of the grants; whether the grants would render void the title by possession; and whether the grants were in themselves bad. The learned Judge also thought it desirable from the important nature of the case, the magnitude of the interests involved, and the probabilities of an appeal to the Privy Council, that the questions at issue should be argued as fully as possible, and that a written judgment should be prepared, so as to avoid the possibility of error as to the grounds and the reasoning upon which this judgment was based.

The arguments of the Solicitor-General, as to the points upon which a desire to hear further argument had been expressed, were comparatively brief; the general effect of them being: 1st, That the possession by Devine was shown, as well by the evidence as by the decision of the jury, to be a possession referable to and dependent upon the grants, which grants were clearly void for uncertainty. Not only was there no plain definition in them as to boundaries, but even the name of Burren, relied upon as a substitute for this description, was only given prospectively, and could not, therefore, serve for the purposes of identification; 2nd, The evidence of possession related only to the holding a small piece of ground, the situation and extent of which was not distinctly established, and went to rebut distinctly the presumption of a twenty years' possession of the whole. It was proved that Devine had expressly declared that he did not know the boundaries until they were pointed out by the Surveyor eight years before his death, and that which he did not know he could not have occupied. The learned gentleman relied upon some of the authorities quoted on the other side, as also upon that of Hatfield v. Alford, decided by the Supreme Court of this colony in 1846.

The Attorney-General replied at very great length, not only maintaining by further arguments the positions which he had laid down in the first instance, but contending that the defendants were estopped from relying on the defects or alleged defects of Devine's title, inasmuch as it was through this title that their own was derived. The learned gentleman cited the following with reference to the question of estoppel:—Doe on d. Gaisford v. Stone, 10 Jur., 480; Dord Bourne v. Burton, 15 Jur., 990; Parker v. Manning, 7 Term Rep., 537; Taylor v. Andham, 2 Taunt, 278; Dixon v. Powell, 1 Ad. and Ell., 531; Doe v. Mills, 2 Ad. and Ell., 17; Bowman v. Taylor, 2 Ad. and Ell., 291; Doe on d. Leeming v. Skirrow, 7 Ad. and Ell., 157; Bensley v. Burdon, 2 Sim. and Stu., 519; 2 Smith, Leading Cases 424, and following, 456; Rees on d. Chamberlain v. Lloyd, Wighte, 123; Greenleaf, Ev., I., 22, 3, chap. 4, and notes; Best on Ev., 403; Com. Dig. (B. and E. 10.) Upon these authorities the Solicitor-General offered a few additional observations, contending that the doctrine of estoppel could not be applied to the present case.

Their Honors reserved judgment.

IN RE CHEETHAM v. HAYWARD.

The Chief Justice gave judgment herein as follows:

In this case a rule nisi was obtained, calling on Mr. Hayward, an attorney of this Court, to pay over £55, received by him to the use of Cheetham, his client.

It appears from the affidavits, that Hayward had been employed by one Friend to bring several actions; and, having recovered moneys therein, became indebted to Friend, and gave him an I. O. U. for £46.

After this, Friend, as agent for Cheetham, employed Hayward to sue Thurlow, Fattorini, and three others. Hayward commenced five several actions against these persons respectively, and recovered from Thurlow £40, and from Fattorini £15. He then delivered over the papers in these five actions, to another attorney of the plaintiff, together with his bill of costs for £51 3s. in the said actions; which bill, on taxation, was reduced to £28 7s.

It has been contended on behalf of Cheetham, but denied by Hayward, that the latter agreed to set off the costs in the five actions against Mr. Friend's demand on the said I. O. U. There is a conflict in the affidavits as to whether Hayward made such an agreement or not.

We think it unnecessary to determine that fact; because, assuming it to be as contended by the plaintiff, we agree with the learned Prothonotary, that "there is no such existing agreement as will deprive Mr. Hayward of his costs against Cheetham for his professional services in the five actions." For it is clear that Hayward, at one time, had a cause of action against Cheetham for £28 7s. That action could only be divested by Deed of Release or by accord and satisfaction executed. If the agreement was with Friend alone, for setting off the I. O. U. against Hayward's demand for Cheetham's costs, it was a satisfaction not moving from Cheetham; against whom, consequently, Hayward's right of action for £28 7s. is quite unbarred. Price v. Easton, 4 B. and Adol. 433—Grimes v. Blofield, Cro. Eliz.—541. If the agreement was with Cheetham alone, the satisfaction would equally move from Friend, a stranger to the cause of action, for the £28 7s. Had the affidavits shown that Friend, Cheetham, and Hayward, agreed together, that Cheetham's debt to Hayward should be paid out of Hayward's I. O. U. to Friend, and that Hawyard should be discharged of so much of the money in that I. O. U. as against Friend, then Hayward would have been now indebted to Cheetham in the full sum of £55. Fairlie v. Denton 8 B. and C. 395. But, as we see no evidence of such tripartite agreement in the affidavits, we think that Cheetham is at all events yet indebted to Hayward in £28 7s.

The order of the Court is, that Hayward do pay over to Cheetham £55, less £28 7s., viz., the sum of £26 13s., within seven days from this day, and that each party shall bear his own costs of this rule.

His Honor remarked, that although not present at the argument, it had been reported to him by his learned colleague, and he quite concurred in the decision which had been arrived at. If the application had been in a different manner, and Mr. Hayward had been called upon to answer the affidavits, he would have been compelled to pay the costs—for, to say the least, it appeared very undesirable that an attorney should escape under the circumstances without some such punishment as this. As the client, however, had asked more than he was entitled to, the Court had no course but that which had been pursued.

The Court then adjourned.

Business for To-day.—The Court will sit at 11 o'clock to-day to hear argument in the case of Mr. W. B. Allen, postponed from last term.

Wholohan v. Tritton.—In the report of Wholohan v. Tritton it should have been stated that annual "Rests" were decreed, interest being calculated on each side at 17 per cent. Thus, whilst Wholohan will have to pay 17 per cent. on the mortgage, he will be allowed to charge a corresponding rate of interest on the occupation, rent, &c.

Gold received by Saturday's Mails.—From Tamworth 180 oz., Muswellbrook, 28 oz., Murrurundi 10 oz., Bathurst 70 oz., Sofala 31 oz. Total 319 oz.

DOMESTIC INTELLIGENCE.

INSOLVENT COURT.

Saturday.

Before S. F. Milford, Esq., Chief Commissioner of Insolvent Estates.

In the estate of Henry Harper, a second meeting was held. Insolvent filed a supplemental schedule, containing an account of his receipts and expenditure, and of the property parted with by him, from April, 1851, to the date of his insolvency; and debts amounting to £181 18s. 9d. were proved against the estate.

In the estate of James Lovett, a single meeting. Nothing was done.

NEW INSOLVENT.

William Palmer, late of Riley-street, Sydney, master mariner. The Chief Commissioner having examined the petitioner, the Chief Justice, upon reading the deposition, accepted the surrender of petitioner's estate, and ordered his discharge from custody. The balance sheet shows the following:—Amount of liabilities, £388; of assets, £36 1s.; and of deficiency, £351 19s. Mr. W. Perry, official assignee.

James Simmons, of Macquarie-street, Sydney, gentleman. Amount of liabilities, £367 15s. 2d.; of assets, £20; and of deficiency, £347 15s. 2d. Mr. G. King, official assignee.

MEETINGS OF CREDITORS.

This Day, May 10.—John A. Torr, a second meeting at 11.

To-morrow, 11.—Daniel J. Tierney, an adjourned second meeting, at 11.

Thursday, 13.—Thomas Alford, an adjourned single meeting, at 11.

Friday, 14.—John Marshall, deceased, an adjourned special meeting, at 11.

Saturday, 15.—John Terry Hughes, deceased, a special meeting, at half-past 10. James Simmons, a single meeting, at half-past 11. William Palmer, a single meeting, at noon.

Thursday, 20.—Frances Alexander Levin, a certificate meeting, at noon.

Friday, 21.—James W. Parker, an adjourned second meeting, at 11.

Thursday, 27.—George Bonner and John Donaldson Kinnear, certificate meetings, at noon.

June.—Thursday, 10.—Patrick Mooney, a certificate meeting, at noon.

Thursday, 17.—Thomas Bott Humphrey, and Thomas Frederick Staddon, certificate meetings, at noon.

ABSTRACT OF SALES BY AUCTION THIS DAY.

Mr. H. A. Graves.—At No. 616, Lower George-street, at 11 o'clock, Unredeemed Pledges.

Mr. H. D. Cockburn.—At the corner of Pitt and Park streets, at 11 o'clock, Household Furniture, Glassware, Cruet Stands, Books, Clocks, Watches, Gun, &c.

Mr. A. Moore.—At the Labour Bazaar, Pitt-street, at 11 o'clock, Household Furniture, Pianofortes, Dray, Britska Carriage, Rifle, Gun, Books, &c.

Committal.—Henry Johnson was brought before the Police Magistrate, on Saturday, by Serjeant Brigden, who deposed that he received the prisoner from Mr. Crego, who charged him with having stolen a coat produced. Mr. Crego, of George-street, draper, deposed that about 7 o'clock on Friday evening he saw prisoner pass his shop, having no coat on; in a few minutes afterwards he saw him take down a coat which was hanging near the door and run off; he pursued and overtook him in Market-street; he was then endeavouring to put the coat on, in which, the garment being too small, he could not succeed. He took him into custody, and gave him to the policeman; the coat produced is the same, is witness' property, and worth 16s. 3d. Committed for trial at the Quarter Sessions.

Water Police Office.—On Saturday, two deserters from the Surinam, one from the Havering, and another from the Ganges, were remanded until to-morrow. Alexander Watts, a deserter from the Prince of Wales, who was apprehended at Newcastle, by the chief constable, and forwarded to Sydney, was ordered to be put on board his ship again.

Forgeries.—John Fry, the man committed on Friday to take his trial, as an accomplice in picking Mr. Manning's pocket, was subsequently identified by Mr. Nairne, of the Bank of New South Wales, as a man who, in January last, tendered for payment a forged cheque, purporting to be drawn by Mr. R. Campbell, tertius; and by Mr. D. M'Lelland as having, about the same date, passed to him a cheque for £18 9s., purporting to be drawn by the same Mr. Campbell, but which, on presentation, was declared to be a forgery. On Saturday, Fry was brought before Mr. Dowling on the charge. Mr. Nairne deposed, that on the 21st January last, a cheque was presented to him for payment at the Bank of New South Wales, by the prisoner, purporting to be drawn by Mr. R. Campbell, commonly known as Mr. Tertius Campbell, in favour of "Dust or Bearer," for the sum of £124; having some doubt as to the genuineness of the cheque, a messenger was sent to Mr. Campbell, but before his return the prisoner went away in dudgeon at being so humbugged, and declaring that he would go and get back from Mr. Campbell the gold he had sold; his suspicions were confirmed on the messenger's return; from that day until Friday last he had not seen the prisoner; he had no doubt of his identity. Within a day or two of the 21st January, four other forged cheques were presented at the Bank, purporting to be drawn by Mr. Campbell: one for £18 9s., by Mr. D. M'Lelland; one for £16 4s. 6d., by a boy; one for £14 7s. 6d., by a clerk in the employ of Mr. Phillips, of Pitt-street draper; and one for £8 4s., by Mr. N. Wilson, of George-street, jeweller. Mr. M'Lelland deposed, that in January last the prisoner and two other persons lodged for a few days at his house; they represented themselves as having come to Sydney from the diggings; after they left his house as their home the prisoner frequently called to have a chat and a glass of grog; on the evening of the 21st January he came to him with a cheque for £18 9s., which he said he had received from Mr. Campbell for gold, but the bank being closed he wanted it cashed; witness declined cashing it, but believing it to be genuine, lent prisoner £2; early next morning he came again, borrowed 10s. more, and offered to take the cheque and get the cash on the opening of the Bank; witness declined giving up the check, and prisoner went away; he had not seen him from that day until he saw him on Friday in the watch-house; on presenting the cheque it was declared to be a forgery; did not recollect hearing him called by any other name than John by his acquaintances when residing at his house. Prisoner declined asking any questions of the witnesses; he would reserve what he had to say for another tribunal. He was then remanded until Monday (this morning.)

Coroner's Inquest.—On Saturday, an inquest was held before the coroner, at the Australian Inn, Parramatta-street, on view of the body of John Scote, then lying dead in Cooper's-row, Chippendale. Deceased was stableman to Mr. Rudd, of George-street, and about 60 years of age. He was taken suddenly ill on Tuesday last, and Dr Aitken was sent for by Mr. Rudd, and recommended his instant removal to the Infirmary. He was placed in a cab; but a woman who passed as his wife had him removed to his own home. It would appear from the evidence of the neighbours that after he arrived at home but little care was taken of him; and the woman in question continued drinking until Friday, when Dr. Aitken was called in by Sergeant Bourke. Deceased was then dying, and death ensued in a few hours. From the post mortem examination made by Dr. Aitken, that an effusion of water in the chest, consequent upon disease of the heart and liver, was the immediate cause of death. The disease of the liver was evidently of long standing and had been produced by irregular habits. Verdict—Died from natural causes.

Holiday.—Many of the shopkeepers, and the Banks, intend to have a holiday to-day, on account of its being what they call the anniversary of the Gold Discovery. All the Government offices will however be open. The Governor-General, in reply to an application to close them, stating that in the present aspect of affairs consequent on the gold discovery, he cannot see any reason for commemorating the 10th of May as a public holiday.

Court Martial.—On Monday last, a General Court Martial was held at the Military Barracks, South Head Road; the Brigade Major, Captain Jenner, Acting Deputy Judge Advocate. Private Dickenson, of H. M. 11th regiment, was tried for desertion; found guilty, and sentenced to be transported for seven years. On Saturday last, this sentence was confirmed in "General Orders" by Major-General Wynyard. The prisoner had been once before guilty of the same offence. We understand, that in the present peculiar state of the colony, when it is so essential to the public interest that every one in the service of the government will remain faithfully at his post, the military authorities are determined to visit with exemplary punishment every case of desertion.

ORIGINAL CORRESPONDENCE.

To the Editors of the Sydney Morning Herald.

Gentlemen,—There is nothing, either in the sense or the nonsense, the wordy dispute or the ponderous wit, of my old friend A.B.C., alias X.Y.Z., deserving notice, excepting in connection with the use of the word Synod. At the late meeting of clergymen the Bishop of Sydney stoutly maintained that the term Synod could properly apply only to a meeting composed exclusively of persons in holy orders, and I perceive X.Y.Z supports this view, a "technical signification having become attached to the word." How refreshing it is to find that this ecclesiastical grimace and war of words is confined to the province of Australia.

In the interesting report of the meeting of the North American Bishops, given in the Herald of this day, we find those true successors of the Apostles dead against their brother of Sydney.

In the formal reply of their Lordships to the clergy of the parish of Quebec, the Bishops use these significant expressions:

> Although we do not yet find ourselves in a position to communicate to you the result of our deliberations, having thought it our duty to forward them in the first instance to his Grace the Archbishop of the Province, we look forward with hope to the period, when no bar shall be placed in the way of our meeting IN SYNOD with the CLERGY AND LAITY of the Church, to consult together on many matters of deep interest which affect the whole body.

Your readers of the Church of England will observe that there is no hair splitting here about the meaning of the term synod—no warfare of mere words—no sickening talk of conscience—no mongrel and unknown "conventions" by which the laity only form a sort of exotic appendix to the Bishop of Sydney's synod; in a word, the term is here used by the Bishops in North America in its scriptural and primitive sense, which includes in one body the minister and the people—the clergy and the laity—the shepherds and the flock.

EARLY CLOSING.

To the Editors of the Sydney Morning Herald.

Gentlemen,—Amongst the many efforts lately made to ameliorate the condition of the young men in this city I have looked in vain for a word on behalf of the druggists' assistants; not a very numerous body, I allow, but, nevertheless, entitled to as much consideration as any, both on account of the greatness of their grievances and their intellectual and moral standing. Why should they be the only persons still obliged to attend the drudgery of the counter till 9 and 10 o'clock at night? Whilst the drapers, grocers, &c., more favoured, are enjoying the relaxation so necessary to health, both of body and mind.

Surely something might be done to render their situation more tolerable. I cannot understand why it should be held requisite for a druggist to keep his shop open so many hours after his neighbours. If it be said medicines must be obtainable, the sick must be attended to, the same reasoning would prevent his closing at all, but it is well known that in cases of emergency the druggist must, and constantly does, attend at all hours. Things might be better managed could we but induce our employers to act together; as, for instance, if they closed at eight o'clock one person's presence would surely be sufficient for all necessary purposes after that hour: at least my own experience would lead me to suppose it ample. I do not imagine they would make any objection to such an arrangement, and it would be a great boon to the employed. All that I have had any conversation with on the subject have agreed that something of the kind is very desirable, and I believe all that is necessary is for one or two leading members of the profession to take the matter in hand, when I doubt not we should obtain our object without difficulty.

Hoping these few hints may lead some one more capable of doing justice to our cause to take up the pen in our behalf,

I am, Gentlemen,
Yours, obediently,
A SUFFERER.

MARRIED,

On the 7th instant, by special license, at St. James' Church, Sydney, by the Rev. Robert Allwood, Thomas Wills Antill, of the Union Bank, Geelong, to Sarah Maria, eldest daughter of Samuel M'Kee, Esq., of Launceston.

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE CHURCH OF ENGLAND.

Draft of a Petition to Her Most Gracious Majesty Queen Victoria.

To Her Most Gracious Majesty Victoria by the grace of God of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland Queen, Defender of the Faith—

The Humble Petition of the undersigned Members of the Church of England and Ireland residing in the Diocese of Sydney in the colony of New South Wales sheweth—

That the condition of the Church within this Diocese has for some time past been most painful and unsatisfactory to your petitioners

1st. That doubts have been expressed as to the Supremacy of your most gracious Majesty as the Head of the Church in this colony to the great dismay of your petitioners who deprecate the assumption of Clerical supremacy which now threatens their religious freedom

2nd That the constitution and form of Church government suggested in the Minute of proceedings of the Bishops of the province of Australasia held in November 1850 and by the Lord Bishop of Sydney before his clergy assembled on the 14th of April 1852 and in the Petition to your Majesty subsequently adopted by the Bishop and a majority of the clergy of the Diocese at that meeting are not in accordance with the opinions or wishes of the lay members of the United Church of England and Ireland in this Diocese generally and your petitioners most firmly protest against the establishment by law of any system of Church Government in which the Bishop Clergy and Laity shall not meet and vote in one council the Laity having equal and concurrent authority and jurisdiction with the Bishop and Clergy in all matters whatsoever appertaining to the Church Spiritual and Temporal

And your petitioners most humbly pray that your Majesty will be pleased to withhold your assent to any law at variance with the sentiments of your petitioners herein expressed

The Committee appointed at the meeting of Laymen held on the 5th instant hereby invite the attendance of Members of the Church of England at a Public Meeting to be held on Tuesday the 18th day of May 1852 at the Mechanics' School of Arts Pitt-street Sydney at 2 o'clock P.M. to take the above petition into consideration

By order of the Committee,
10918 G. KING, Honorary Secretary.

LODGINGS TO BE LET, with or without Board, in a most delightful and healthy situation which commands a view of Balmain, North Shore, &c. Apply at Darling House, Fort-street. 10919

PETITION TO THE QUEEN.

THE following Petition, praying Her Most Gracious Majesty the Queen, "not to consent to the introduction, into the colony of New South Wales, of the Ecclesiastical Laws of England, nor of any Ecclesiastical Dominant Power having Legislative and Executive Authority, under any Designation whatsoever." Ministers and others in this City, or in the interior, approving of, and desirous of obtaining signatures to the said Petition, either in the vestries of their respective places of worship, or elsewhere, are respectfully informed that they will be immediately supplied with printed copies of the Petition, and ruled parchment for the subscription of names, on application by letter to the address of the undersigned, where the petition lies for signature.

L. E. THRELKELD,
Minister,
Prince-street North, Sydney.

Petition.

To Her Most Gracious Majesty Victoria, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, Queen, Defender of the Faith.

The humble petition of the undersigned Ministers and People of the Churches of God, within the colony of New South Wales.

Sheweth:—That in consequence of certain proceedings of "the Bishop of Sydney, Clergy, and Lay Members of the Church of England," at a meeting held in Sydney on the 15th day of April, 1852, when it was resolved to petition your Majesty, and then and there a petition was signed, stating amongst other things "that the Ecclesiastical Laws of England not being wholly applicable to the Church of England in this Diocese, your petitioners labour under several grave disadvantages in the exercise of proper discipline over the Clergy and Laity;" and "that it is the opinion of your Majesty's petitioners it would tend to the honour of Almighty God, the good and welfare of his Church, and the better government thereof, that there should be Synods;" likewise that "the Bishop, Clergy, and Laity, being thus assembled, should be qualified and authorised to debate and consult under proper regulations for the affairs of the United Church of England and Ireland within this Diocese; and to frame and and enact proper rules, regulations, and canons, not being contrary to any law of Church or State for the due ordering of the said Church," praying your Majesty to consider "the expediency of removing the obstacles," set forth in the said petition.

We, your Majesty's humble petitioners are of opinion that it would not tend to the honour of Almighty God, nor be for the good and quiet of his Church, of which we your Majesty's petitioners are likewise members, nor for the better government thereof, that any person or persons, tribunal, body corporate, should be nominated or appointed in this colony by enactment of the Imperial Parliament, or by local ordinance or otherwise howsoever, to enact rules, regulations, and canons in this colony for any Church or Churches professing to be under the law and government of Christ as the supreme head of the Church.

And your Majesty's petitioners humbly suggest that under no circumstances soever should the Legislative and Executive Power be combined in one and the same body.

Your Majesty's petitioners are also of opinion that the creation by any Imperial authority of any such Ecclesiastical Diocesan Synodical Conventional Power, by what name soever it might be designated, would be to establish an antagonistic authority to the constitutional power of the people, as now represented in the Legislative Council of New South Wales, of which your Majesty is the proper and only head.

Your Majesty's petitioners are apprehensive that Imperial Legislation on such subjects might thereby as under colour of regulation by legal enactment for the Church of England, cause the Church of England to be considered as the only church of God, to the prejudice of all other churches, and thus materially affect the civil and religious rights and liberty of your Majesty's subjects—thus causing dissent, so that perfect freedom and equality of religious rights, which now your petitioners do happily enjoy, under the benign influence of your most gracious Majesty, might be destroyed.

Your petitioners therefore humbly submit to your Majesty's gracious attention the following considerations:—

That the gospel of God our Saviour authorizes moral persuasion as the sole medium by which to enforce attention to religious duties, and obedience to the commandments of Christ; and that in every case of ecclesiastical delinquency, while it urgently commands the application of reproof and exhortation to the conscience, it sanctions the use of spiritual weapons only.

That the ecclesiastical laws of England not being wholly in force in this colony, your petitioners pray that they may not be further introduced under any guise, and that no Imperial legislative enactment, local or other ordinance, may be sanctioned to enforce the introduction into the colony of New South Wales of the ecclesiastical laws of England herein before referred to, believing, as your petitioners do, that such introduction would prove detrimental to all the churches within this colony.

That if Legislative authority be given to enforce ecclesiastical discipline, either by fine, imprisonment, or other corporal punishment, to any one church, such legal authority would be to the imminent peril of civil and religious liberty in general.

That your petitioners know of no legal obstacle in this colony to prevent the willing cooperation of the ministers and the people of the churches of Christ for the enforcement of ecclesiastical discipline on Christian principles, or for the contemplation of measures to extend the faith of Christ, to promote the honour of Almighty God, and for the good and quiet of his churches in their proper government by scriptural authority.

That your petitioners do not entertain any doubts in regard to the supremacy of your Majesty, as under God, the only Sovereign of this colony, nor are your petitioners aware that any instance has occurred, or that there is any symptom indicative of a wish, on the part of your Majesty's representatives, or of any member of Government, to prevent, directly or indirectly, the assembling together of the ministers and people of the Churches of God in this colony, to render necessary an appeal to your most Gracious Majesty for Imperial legislation on the subject.

That your petitioners submit, with all due deference, to the consideration of your Majesty, the duty of non-interference in the things that are God's, and of simply affording that protection to all classes of your Majesty's subjects which has been the glory of your Majesty's predecessors of the House of Hanover.

Your petitioners, therefore, pray your Most Gracious Majesty will be pleased not to consent to the introduction, into the colony of New South Wales, of the ecclesiastical laws of England before alluded to, nor of any ecclesiastical dominant power, having legislative and executive authority, under any designation whatsoever, believing, as your petitioners do most conscientiously, that such a course would only be productive of detriment to the various churches now standing upon Christian and legal equality in the said colony.

And your Majesty's Loyal Petitioners, as in duty bound, will ever pray. 10848

TO LET, a first-rate Public-house, situated in the most thriving part of George street, which is doing a business to the entent of sixty or seventy pounds per week, with plenty of room to extend to at least £100. For particulars apply to Morris Castle, Pitt-street North. 10686

THE MUDGEE HOTEL to Let, for 3, 5, or 7 years. This Inn contains 12 rooms, good cellar, stabling for 20 horses, kitchen, laundry, and stores, all to be delivered in good repair.

This Inn is situated in the most business part of Mudgee, being in Market-street, and opposite the Police Office, and adjoining the Post Office; any further comment would be useless. The business that is now doing is far beyond all description, from this little township falling as it does in the central part of the gold fields. There is a large stock of spirituous and malt liquors now on hand; part or all of which may be taken at a fair valuation, also, a great quantity of hay and corn, together with all furniture, beds, &c., as may be agreed on. The expense that the proprietor has been at of late is very great, in fitting up for bar and kitchen, a first-rate beer engine, and a cooking machine has been got to expedite the business. Early application will be necessary. All letters must be pre-stamped; for information apply, if in Sydney, to Mr. C. A. Wilson, No. 323, Castlereagh-street, Sydney, or to the undersigned on the premises.

The undersigned would be glad to let 40 or 50 lots of land on the most liberal terms for 5, 7, or 14 years on building leases. These lots are in the best possible situation for business in this township. Apply to the undersigned on the premises. All letters must be pre-stamped.

If the Inn be taken for 7 years the proprietor will agree to expend £250 or £300 to enlarge the same.

TUESDAY, June 8.
GRAND SALE OF SMALL FARMS, ON THE PETERSHAM ESTATE,

Fronting the Newtown and New Cook's River Roads, adjoining the estates of Mr. Johnston, at Annandale, Mr. Josephson and Mr. Smidmore, at Newtown, and close to St. Peter's Church; being THE REMAINING LOTS FROM THE LAST SALE,

And,

A LARGE NUMBER OF ADDITIONAL LOTS NOT BEFORE IN THE MARKET.

PURKIS AND LAMBERT (successors to the late Mr. Samuel Lyons) will sell by auction, at their Rooms, 451, George-street, on TUESDAY, 8th June, at 12 o'clock precisely, agreeably to instructions with which they have been favoured.

☞ The beautiful Estate of PETERSHAM, on which the Farms are situated, being within three miles of Sydney, on the principal roads, and the "Railway Line" passing through it, render it superfluous for the auctioneers to offer any lengthy remarks. The farms vary in contents from about 5 to 13 acres, and are well suited for farming purposes, being excellent land. A large portion of them lies on the NEWTOWN and COOK'S RIVER SWAMPS, and is well adapted to meet the wants of Market Gardeners, and Growers for the Sydney Market; indeed, land of a more prolific nature cannot be found near the city. As sites for VILLA RESIDENCES they are particularly suitable, for lying between the Parramatta and Newtown Roads, they are easy of access at the present time, and when the "RAILWAY" is in operation they will scarcely be thought out of Sydney.

It may be mentioned that the sites for a "Railway terminus" and a cattle market are reserved on the property, and that a portion of the allotment for sale front the line of "Railway."

Probably in a few months the "line" as marked out will be occupied by the "Railway" itself—those who are wavering had, therefore, better decide at once, and not let the present opportunity be lost.

The terms are highly liberal: 25 per cent. cash deposit, the residue in 2 years, interest in the mean time at 8 per cent., payable half-yearly.

N.B.—Plans on view at the auctioneer's rooms. 10807

WEDNESDAY, 19th May.
HYDE PARK CORNER.

Valuable Building Allotment at the S.W. corner of Liverpool and Elizabeth streets, overlooking the Race Course.

PURKIS AND LAMBERT (successors to the late Mr. Samuel Lyons) have been favoured with instructions to sell the above by public auction at their Rooms, 451, George-street, on WEDNESDAY, 19th inst., at 12 o'clock precisely.

FROM THIS CAPITAL PROPERTY there is an uninterrupted view over the Race Course, and it is a first-rate Building Site for business premises, or dwelling-houses. It occupies a most desirable spot at the corner of two leading thoroughfares, having 36 feet frontage to Liverpool-street, and 60 feet frontage to Elizabeth-street South, opposite the residence of John Thacker, Esq., and is the only corner of Hyde Park left unoccupied.

Terms liberal.

☞ The land is now free from all claim to dower. 10893

TUESDAY, 25th MAY.
THE VALUABLE PROPERTY AT POTTS' POINT, WOOLLOOMOOLOO.

Occupying about 4½ Acres, with the beautiful Family Residence erected thereon, called GRANTHAMVILLE, now in the possession of J. B. Metcalf, Esq., will be sold by auction, by PURKIS AND LAMBERT (Successors to the late Mr. Samuel Lyons) at their Rooms, 451, George-street, on TUESDAY, 25th May, at twelve o'clock precisely.

The Public are too well acquainted with the above delightful locality to render comment necessary to direct attention to it.

The beautiful residence called Granthamville is a conspicuous object, from whatever point it is viewed, indeed there is nothing near it so deserving of notice.

Situated in an elevated position, near Potts' Point, commanding delightful views of the harbour and adjacent scenery, it would not be over-rating it to designate it the "Gem" of Darlinghurst.

It contains on the PRINCIPAL FLOOR, entrance and inner hall; parlour, 16 feet x 14 feet; dining room, 20 feet x 16 feet; two bedrooms, 16 feet x 12 feet, and 11 feet 3 inches x 11 feet; closet, and small store. Attached are kitchen and storeroom, each 14 feet by 12 feet 6 inches; laundry, 15 feet x 14 feet; washing-house, 14 feet x 10 feet; boiler and cleaning place.

On the DRAWING-ROOM FLOOR are: Drawing-room, 23 feet 3 inches by 17 feet; principal bedroom, 16 feet x 13 feet; bedroom, 16 feet by 14 feet; and bedroom, 11 feet 3 inches by 11 feet; dressing-room, lobby, &c.—As per plan on view at the auction rooms.

☞ The principal elevation points towards the South Head, and nothing can exceed the loveliness of prospect which the upper rooms command.

The auctioneers are instructed to sell the house and ground in one lot, comprising about four and a-half acres.

Terms—25 per cent. cash deposit, the residue to remain at the option of the purchaser for three years, at eight per cent. interest per annum.

Intending Purchasers can obtain Cards to view the property, by application to the Auctioneers.

☞ A plan is on view at the auction rooms. 9798

TUESDAY, JUNE 8.
CAPITAL FAMILY RESIDENCE,

Known as Beaconsfield, on the Kissing Point Road, near Bedlam Ferry, on the Parramatta River, with servants' cottages, stabling, poultry yard, kitchen, and flower garden, orchard and vineyard, and about 45 acres of land in paddocks; in all about 50 acres, amply supplied with water in all seasons.

PURKIS AND LAMBERT (Successors to the late Mr. Samuel Lyons) have been favored with instructions from the proprietor (only in consequence of his being about to remove to the interior) to dispose of the above truly choice property, at their Rooms, 451, George-street, on TUESDAY, 8th June, at 12 o'clock precisely.

In one or two Lots,

The DWELLING HOUSE on the above property is substantially built of stone, and contains two good-sized sitting rooms and five bedrooms, with large detached kitchen, fitted up with "Gravely's stove," and other conveniences. It is well adapted to the wants of any respectable family requiring a pleasant, healthy, and retired residence, having every accommodation, including an abundant supply of water. There are two cottages for servants or labourers on the premises, (now let to weekly tenants), with stabling for two horses, cow sheds, large poultry yard, and other conveniences. Attached to the dwelling house, and nearly surrounding it, are five acres of productive land laid out in kitchen and flower garden, orchard, and a small vineyard planted with choice vines. Immediately contiguous to the above are about 45 acres of land divided into paddocks, all fenced and amply supplied with water in the driest seasons. A considerable portion of the land is cleared and fit for cultivation if required.

THE PROPERTY is situated on the HIGH ROAD, leading from "BEDLAM FERRY to KISSING POINT," being rather more than half a mile from the former, and a mile and a half from the latter, and it is only parted with on account of the owner (a resident for the past 13 years) having made arrangements to settle in the interior.

The paddocks abut directly on and open to the "FIELD OF MARS COMMON," upwards of 6000 acres, and possess a right of commonage thereon.

⁂ TERMS LIBERAL.

A considerable portion of the purchase-money may remain on an extended credit if required.

☞ TITLE UNEXCEPTIONABLE.

Distance from Sydney about 8 miles by water.

THE HOUSEHOLD FURNITURE, which is modern and in good order, may be had by the purchaser at a valuation, otherwise it will be sold by auction at an early day.

NOTE.—The WHOLE PROPERTY comprised in the above will be first offered in ONE LOT, and if not disposed of will then be sold in Two LOTS, viz.:—

1st. The house and about 5 acres of land attached, with buildings and improvements.
2nd. About 45 acres in paddocks.

☞ A plan will be on view at the Auctioneers' Rooms in a few days. 10700

PRIME SALT BEEF.

MR. CHARLES NEWTON has received instructions from Clark Irving, Esq., to sell by auction, at the Commercial Wharf, on WEDNESDAY, the 12th instant, at 12 o'clock, in lots to suit purchasers, 150 tierces Prime Salt Beef, without a single exception, the finest sample ever cured in any part of the world. Mr. Newton can speak confidently of the quality, from the fact of having on many occasions, purchased it from Mr. Irving, for captains of ships, as also for private use. It is a well known fact that in the Mauritius Market it brought fully 30s. per tierce more than any other brand. Mr. Irving's reason for closing his present stock, is simply in consequence of the great difficulty in obtaining efficient labour, and does not therefore intend salting this season. A few pieces of Beef will be cooked, so that buyers may fairly test the quality and cure.

In the Insolvent Estate of Mr. John Richard Torr, Draper, King-street.
BY ORDER OF THE OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE.

MR. MORT is instructed by the Official Assignee, in the Insolvent Estate of Mr. John Richard Torr, of Sydney, Draper, to sell by auction, at his rooms, on WEDNESDAY, the 12th May, at half-past 11 o'clock,

The goodwill and interest of said insolvent to 21 years lease of premises in King-street, at the low rental of three (3) guineas per week, known as the

FREE TRADE HALL.

Also,

The fixtures of the shop and show room, comprising—

Good counters with drawers
Shelves, desks, and ladders
Handsome gas fittings,
And,
Chandeliers
Spendid glass 53 inches by 44 inches
Venetian sun blinds
And,
Various other useful effects.

☞ The important position of these valuable business premises, renders the lease, a valuable investment, either for the purposes of occupation or for sub-letting, as the vast rise which has taken place in the rental of City premises since the lease was granted to Mr. Torr, will enable the purchaser to obtain a proportionate increase over the rent now charged.

Terms—Cash. 10890

THE FINE SCHOONER "POMPEY."

MR. MORT is instructed to sell by public auction, at his Rooms, George-street, on FRIDAY, May 14, at half-past 11 o'clock,

The fast-sailing schooner Pompey, of 34 tons register, capable of carrying a cargo of 50 tons, or 1800 bushels of grain.

She is well known as a favourite trader to Wide Bay and Moreton Bay; being very fast, and a capital sea boat.

She is fit for immediate service, and is well found in rigging, sails, boats, &c.; in fact, she is very complete in her equipments.

Her cabin accommodation is very good, and her hold is fitted up in rooms, for grain.

She has proved herself a very profitable little vessel, and is well worthy the attention of parties engaged in the coasting trade.

Also,

A valuable Two-day Chronometer; a most superior timekeeper, and warranted of first-rate make.

Terms, cash. 10888

HOUSE PROPERTY AT BATHURST.

MR. MORT is instructed to sell by public auction, at his Rooms, George-street, Sydney, on FRIDAY, the 14th May, at 11 o'clock,

Two good Cottages situate in George-street, Bathurst, near Mr. Gainsborough's, opposite to the Roman Catholic Chapel, and known as John Ryan's property, having a frontage to George-street of 41 feet, by a depth of 124 feet. The houses are well and truly built of brick, with a stone foundation and are in capital repair. Each has a verandah front; the larger house contains four rooms, one of which is fitted with shop front, &c.; and the smaller one contains two rooms.

A communication exists between the two houses, making them serve as one. In the rear of these premises there is an excellent well of water, and a stable for three horses.

The houses have been let at £52 a year, but are now worth considerably more. The present lease will expire on 31st December, 1852, and possession will be given on 1st January, 1853.

☞ Situated as this property is, in so advantageous a position in the flourishing town of Bathurst, where house properties have so greatly advanced in value within the last year, in consequence of the discovery of the adjacent Gold Fields, and where a good stand is not now often to be met with; this chance of purchasing a really valuable freehold should be availed of.

The title is first rate.

Terms—cash. 10634

100 ACRE FARM AT ILLAWARRA.
Allotments of Land in the Towns of MAITLAND and BATHURST.

MR. MORT has been instructed to sell by public auction, at his Rooms, George-street, Sydney, on TUESDAY, the 18th of May, at 11 o'clock,

LOT 1.
A Capital Farm of 100 acres situate on the SHOALHAVEN RIVER,
having a considerable frontage to the same. It is adjoining R. Glenville's primary grant of 320 acres, and on the opposite side of the river is Browne's 600 acre grant. The soil is undoubtedly rich, and its situation first-rate.

LOT 2.
An Allotment of Land in Newcastle-street, MAITLAND, being
No. 16 of section No. 19.

LOT 3.
A Corner Allotment of Land in George-street, MAITLAND, being
No. 1 of section No. 18.

LOT 4.
An Allotment of Land in King-street, MAITLAND, being
No. 23 of section No. 22.

LOT 5.
An Allotment of Land in Russell-street, BATHURST, being
No. 20 of section 10.

The Titles of all these important Allotments are Grants direct from the Crown. 10889

HIGHLY VALUABLE WATERSIDE PREMISES,
Situate in Darling Harbour, between Bathurst and Liverpool streets, being the EXTENSIVE WHARF AND ESTABLISHMENT known as BRODIE AND CRAIG'S WHARF.

MR. MORT has received instructions to sell by public auction, at his Rooms, on TUESDAY, 18th of May at 11 o'clock.

In one lot, all those highly valuable Premises in Darling Harbour, known as Brodie and Craig's Wharf, with an extensive frontage to the waterside, and in offering them for sale the Auctioneer would observe that although he has the almost daily honour of submitting to the public Estates, Allotments, and Tenements of every character and description, in every situation and locality, it is seldom that the opportunity occurs to invite attention and competition to and that too situate in the very heart of that part of the City which is the resort of the Coasting Craft of this great metropolis.

VALUABLE WHARFAGE PROPERTY,

The premises of Messrs. Brodie and Craig are so well known to the public as to render an elaborate description of them unnecessary, but as the property in question possesses advantages not held, or even attainable (as Mr. Mort believes) by any of the wharves on this side of the harbour. It may not be considered superfluous to state a few of them.

PERMANENT AND SUBSTANTIAL

1st. In respect to the great extent of the property—

The area is nearly one acre, the wharfage frontage being one hundred and fifty feet, the depth of the land being nearly three hundred feet. Eighteen feet only of the Wharf being constructed upon piles.

2nd. As regards the Improvements—

The property faces Barker-street, to which it has a frontage of 150 feet, upon a portion of which is erected three built of brick, each containing 5 rooms, 2 attics, detached kitchen and yard, with private entrance in the rear; and when it is stated that these houses were built by the proprietors for their private residences, it may be well believed that they are as represented, substantial and well-finished.

SUBSTANTIAL AND WELL FINISHED HOUSES,

The substantial character of Messrs. Brodie and Craig has passed into a proverb; and it is not to be supposed that they would build less creditably for themselves than for the public.

The other improvements are of the same character, and consist of a two-storied timber built range of building measuring 72 feet by 20 feet, which has been used as a carpenter's shop.

Close to the Wharf there is a two-storied timber built store, measuring 80 feet by 15 feet; and on the south side of the premises is erected a range of weatherboard buildings, comprising engineers and blacksmith's shops, stables, &c., &c.

A large extent of the area of the property is unoccupied by buildings, and is suitable for the erection of

EXTENSIVE STORES AND WAREHOUSES.

Another advantage which this property possesses is the easy and gradual ascent from the water side to the MAIN THOROUGHFARES OF THE CITY.

By either Liverpool or Bathurst streets; and as the day is not far distant when the long contemplated prolongation of Liverpool-street to Pyrmont, by the construction of a causeway, will be carried out, the value of this PROPERTY MUST BECOME IMMENSELY ENHANCED.

☞ Although the property will be submitted for competition in one lot, the plan now on view at the Rooms of the Auctioneer exhibits its subdivision into allotments, thereby enabling intending purchasers to form an approximate estimate of its real value, by showing the manner in which it may be turned into a

PROFITABLE SPECULATION.

IN THE SUPREME COURT.
Campbell v. Campbell.

TO be peremptorily sold in one lot, pursuant to a Decree of the Supreme Court of New South Wales, in Equity, made in a cause of Campbell v. Campbell, with the approbation of Samuel Frederick Milford, Esquire, Master in Equity of the said Court, at the Rooms of Thomas S. Mort, in the City of Sydney, on WEDNESDAY, the twenty-sixth day of May, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, certain freehold premises, known as Harrington Park, situate at the junction of the Cobbity and Cowpasture roads, late the property of Captain William Campbell, of Harrington Park, deceased.

☞ The evidence that the plaintiff is heir to one Murdoch Campbell, under whom he claims, is filed in the office of the Master in Equity in the said suit, to which intending purchasers are referred.

THE HARRINGTON PARK ESTATES,

Comprising one thousand acres, more or less, is situate between the Cowpasture and Cobbity Roads, to the former of which it has a frontage of nearly one mile and three quarters, and to the latter a frontage of about two miles.

It is distant four miles from "Camden," five miles from "Campbelltown," fifteen miles from Liverpool, and thirty-five miles from Sydney.

The house is delightfully situated on an eminence, commanding a view and scenery of the most beautiful and interesting character, overlooking, as it does, the whole of the highly cultivated lands of the Compastures, with their numerous parks and mansions, while the

VILLAGE OF CAMDEN,

With its symmetrical Church, and truly English appearance, forms a feature of no small interest and attraction, backed up as the picture is by the lofty though distant ranges of the Blue Mountains. The estate is well watered on the south by the Narellan Creek, and on the north by a continuous chain of ponds, as far as the creek.

At the head of this chain of ponds a

DAM AND RESERVOIR

have been constructed, which ensure a

PLENTIFUL SUPPLY OF WATER

in the vicinity of

which possesses extensive accommodation. The ground floor has a suite of seven rooms, with large Entrance Hall; two of the rooms are 28 feet by 14 feet, and one room 26 feet by 20 feet.

The second floor has a good landing place, with two rooms of similar dimensions to those on the ground floor.

The basement story, suited for the accommodation of servants, consists of four rooms.

The out-offices are extensive and large, comprising stables, kitchen, store, barn, gardener's house, &c.

The Estate, which comprises

ONE THOUSAND ACRES, more or less, is divided into convenient paddocks, four hundred acres of which are cleared and stumped, thirty acres being

HIGHLY CULTIVATED AND CROPPED,

With wheat, barley, and oats, while 367 acres are

CLOTHED WITH THE MOST LUXURIANT GRASS.

The bush land is open forest, being lightly timbered and first-rate grazing land.

THE GARDEN

Contains nearly three acres, with fruit trees, vines, &c.

THE RACE-COURSE,

Where the Camden and Narellan Races are held annually, is situated on the beautiful alluvial flat below the House.

☞ This charming Property will positively be sold to the highest bidder; and as years must elapse before similar improvements will be erected upon

COUNTY ESTATES

(for thousands would not defray the cost of outlay upon Harrington Park); it is certainly to be hoped that some one will be found on the day of sale ready to avail himself of the opportunity of obtaining, at a fractional portion of its value,

A MAGNIFICENT FREEHOLD,

possessing all the advantages of a

LUXURIOUS AND COMFORTABLE RESIDENCE, with a yearly income derivable from it amply sufficient to repay the outlay—the advantage of a steadily increasing value being attached to it at the same time.

Terms—One fourth cash, the residue in a month. 10567

THE DISTRICT OF WELLINGTON.
5260 prime Sheep, together with the station of COOKANDOON.

Terms may be arranged on application to the Auctioneer, and will be made known at sale.

MR. MORT has received instructions to sell by public auction, at his Rooms, George-street, on MONDAY, 31st May, at 11 o'clock precisely,

A most compact and desirable Station, in the favourite district of Wellington, known as Cookandoon, situate on the Gunningbah Creek, 100 miles below the Township of Wellington and near to the station of Messrs Hay, Cornish and Captain Bull.

The run is composed of Myall Plains, and has seven miles frontage to the creek, in which there is at all seasons, a capital supply of water. The country is open, well grassed, very fattening, and admit of flocks of from 2000 to 3000. It will carry a large number beyond the quantity now upon it.

A most important feature in connection with this run is, that the native blacks are of that tractable quiet character as to make them most valuable as shepherds, in which capacity they have been employed for some years past with great advantage to the proprietors, rendering them quite independent of European labour.

The run is only 150 miles from the diggings, were there is always demand for the fat stock.

THE IMPROVEMENTS

are very comfortable and complete, comprising

Good verandah cottage
Kitchen and store
Woolshed
Stock yards
Sheep yards
Men's huts, &c., &c., all of which are in good order.

THE SHEEP,

which are warranted clean, and never to hav been diseased, consist of—

2,500 Young ewes, of ages
1,500 Weaned lambs
1,200 Wethers of ages
60 Well-bred rams

5,260 more or less.

Six hundred of the wethers are now fat, and the whole with that exception are young sheep. They were shorn in September last, and prior to the time of delivery will have nine months' wool upon their backs. They are in fine health, and the quality of their wool is very good.

Stores, bullocks, drays, &c., must be taken at a valuation.

☞ The advantages attached to this property are many: The run is of a most fattening character, the flocks may be be kept in 2000 to 3000, the cost of labour is comparatively nothing, for the blacks are and have long been the shepherds; there is a capital market for the fat stock, and within three months from the time of delivery the clip will be off the sheeps' back, and the number increased by the drop of lambs far beyond what will cover the withdrawal of the fat wethers, which are at once available in part payment of the purchase-money.

All further particulars may be learnt on application to the Auctioneer. 10277

VALUABLE CITY PROPERTY.

MR. MORT will sell by public auction, at his Rooms, George-street, on TUESDAY, the 18th of May, at 11 o'clock,

That desirable ALLOTMENT OF LAND, containing 25¼ perches, situate in New George-street, nearly opposite the gateway of Messrs. Campbell and Co., having a frontage to Union-street (the street leading from Old George-street to New George-street), of 124 feet.

This land adjoins the stores of Messrs. Martyn and Combes and Messrs. Kirchner and Co., also the premises of Mr. Atherton. There is sufficient good stone on it to build with.

Title unexceptionable.

☞ Situated near the principal landing-place of the harbour, and being contiguous to some of the busiest wharves and largest houses of business in the city, together with its proximity to the chief street of the city, this exceedingly valuable allotment is an eligible opportunity for parties to invest. It is a capital site for stores; the saving in dray-hire would be considerable, being so near the landing-place. 10891

800 ACRES OF LAND,
AT ULLADULLA,
SUITABLE FOR DAIRY FARMS.
By order of the representatives of the late Alexander M'Leay, Esq.

MR. MORT is instructed to sell by public auction, at his Rooms, George-street, on MONDAY, the 31st of May, at 11 o'clock,

About 800 acres of capital land, situated about two miles from the Township of Ulladulla, admirably adapted for dairy farms, the native grasses having been entirely superseded by that highly nutritious and sweet plant White Clover.

THE THREE FARMS WILL BE SOLD IN ONE LOT, and are comprised in the annexed descriptions:—

FARM No. 1,

Consisting of two hundred and ninety-eight acres, county of St. Vincent, No. 3 of the suburban allotments near Ulladulla, commencing at the north-east corner of a measured portion of three hundred and twenty acres, and bounded on the south by the north boundary of that land, and a prolongation thereof, being a line bearing west ninety-one chains; on the west by a line bearing north forty chains; on the north by the south boundary of a measured portion of two hundred and sixty acres, being a line bearing east seventy chains; and on the east by the waters of the Pacific Ocean.

FARM No. 2,

Consists of two hundred and sixty acres, county of St. Vincent, No. 4 of the suburban allotments, near Ulladulla, commencing at the north-east corner of a measured portion of two hundred and ninety-eight acres, and bounded on the south by the north boundary of that land, being a line bearing west seventy chains; on the west by part of the east boundary of a measured portion of two hundred and seventy-five acres, being a line bearing north seventy chains to a branch of Narawalla Creek, and by that branch on the north by Narawalla Creek; and on the east by the waters of the Pacific Ocean.

Farm No. 3.

Consisting of two hundred and seventy-five acres, county of St. Vincent, No. 5 of the suburban allotments near Ulladulla, commencing at the north-east corner of Robert Garratt's purchase of three hundred acres, and bounded on the west by the east boundary of that land, a line bearing south ninety-four chains; on the south by a line bearing east thirty-five chains; on the east by a line bearing north eighteen chains, to a branch of Narawalla Creek, by that branch, and by Narawalla Creek; and on the north by Narawalla Creek, upwards to the north-east corner of Garratt's purchase aforesaid.

☞ The whole properties are well watered, and upon the land is a large quantity of that peculiar species of timber known as the blue gum, which is invaluable to our colonial ship builders, as is exemplified in the fact of some of our best and largest coasting craft being entirely constructed of this durable wood. From the nearness of the property to the boat harbour (which by the way is considered the safest on this part of the coast), a great facility is afforded for the shipment of this valuable article of commerce to adjacent ports.

The district is well calculated for dairy purposes, the climate being very moist and favorable to the habits of milch-kine in all seasons, and would doubtless prove highly remunerating as a dairy farm.

SPLENDID FATTENING STATION,
In the the Salt Bush, Country of the Lachlan and Murrumbidgee, with which will be sold 4000 A1 SHEEP.

☞ This is unquestionably one of those favoured selections of country, which abounds in that nutritious feed so well known for its fattening qualities, every portion of the land with the exception of a small alluvial strip on the River (to which latter it has nine miles frontage!) being covered with salt bush.

MR. MORT has received instructions from the representatives of the late Mr. M'Leay, to sell by public auction, at his Rooms, George-street, on MONDAY, 31st May, at 11 o'clock,

That most valuable and fattening station known as

SOUTH THONONGA,

"Which is bounded on the east by a line on the River Lachlan, nine miles west of 'Honuna,' Mr. Warren's run, and running six miles south; west by a line commencing on the river 3 miles east of Wallarby or South Boonga, Mr. Evans' run, and running 6 miles south; north by the Lachlan River; south by large plains.

IN FLOCKS OF 3000,

This run will carry nine thousand sheep. It is abundantly watered, and is proverbial for its fattening qualities. Its frontage to the river, as above stated, is no less than nine miles. It is situated on the Lower Lachlan, and its distance from the junction of the Lachlan with the Murrumbidgee is about 60 miles; its position, as regards the two great markets of Sydney and Melbourne, being about equidistant.

THE SHEEP,

It is needless to say, being of the late Mr. M'Leay's flocks, are unquestionably good—the wool of the past year averaging one shilling and eight-pence per pound in the London sales, the weight of fleece being 2 lbs. 2 oz. They are warranted sound and never to have been diseased, and consist of all of which are first-rate sheep.

2000 Ewes
2000 Wethers,

☞ A station so admirably situated for supplying the two great markets with fat stock, where the expenses of station are a mere bagatelle, from the great size in which the flocks are kept, must command the attention of those on the look-out for a really profitable investment. The closing of the estate matters is the cause of the sale, and the property is one really deserving of attention.

Terms on application. 10280

IN THE SUPREME COURT.
Sheriff's Office,
Sydney, 26th April, 1852.
MILSON v. KENT.

ON Monday, the 10th May next, at noon, at the London Tavern, George-street, Sydney, the Sheriff will cause to be sold all the right, title, interest, and estate of the above defendant (other than an equity of redemption) in and to all that piece or parcel of land situate at Camperdown, near Sydney, in the county of Cumberland colony of New South Wales; bounded on the east by the west side of Parramatta Road 54 feet; on the north by Bryan, 109 feet; on the south by Scott 109 feet; on the west by other land 54 feet: more or less, with an unfinished stone-built cottage thereon, with attics, &c., unless this execution be previously satisfied. 9827
